

Liberty Global Announces Vendor Awards 2011

Englewood, Colorado – September 15, 2011: Liberty Global, Inc. (“Liberty Global”) (Nasdaq: LBTYA, LBTYB and LBTYK), announced the winners of its 2011 ‘Vendor Awards’ at the ‘Liberty Global Technology Summit’ in Amsterdam, the Netherlands. Senior management from 80 key vendor partners attended the event together with Liberty Global’s senior management in the areas of technology, IT, product development and procurement. The company recognized its partners’ achievements in four categories: ‘Best Account Management’, which was won by Cisco; ‘Best Product & Service Quality’, won by Pace; and ‘Best Support & After Sales’, won by Arris.

The award for ‘Best Innovation/Breakthrough Supplier’ went to a group of eleven partners who jointly contributed to the innovations of Horizon, Liberty Global’s next-generation TV platform: Samsung, NDS, Intel, Philips, Metrological, Celeno, Nagravision, Intellicore, ThinkAnalytics, EventIS and RedBee. Liberty Global decided to award these companies collectively due to the exceptionally strong collaboration on this breakthrough product suite.

The winners of the Liberty Global Technology Awards are selected based on input from a large number of senior executives across the entire Liberty Global group. It is the fourth time that Liberty Global has acknowledged its relationship with its partners and suppliers in this way, especially those relationships that have structurally supported the high level development and innovation of Liberty Global’s business.

“Liberty Global recognizes the outstanding work of our vendor partners. We are extremely grateful for all their efforts and their ability to collaborate as demonstrated by the development of Horizon. Our partners’ professionalism and industry knowledge enable us to keep offering our customers new and reliable products and stay ahead of the competition,” said Balan Nair, Chief Technology Officer of Liberty Global. “Our partners are an integral part of our success story”.
